Boarding Principles

Boarding at St Andrew's School, Turi, is central to the enriching education we provide. We aim to provide a high quality boarding environment which promotes the welfare of each individual and encourages his or her all round development. We want each of our students to be fulfilled and happy; at the minimum this requires that they must feel secure, and that they are properly looked after by well qualified and experienced people who are well disposed to children. The relationship between student, parent and boarding house, will be fundamental to this and communication is encouraged to be frequent and open.

Students should develop responsibility for, and leadership of, themselves and others, and have the opportunity to express their individuality, whilst learning respect and consideration towards the immediate and wider community in which they live. The boarding houses provide the ideal environment for boys and girls to develop the personal and inter-personal qualities they will need for life beyond school: integrity, leadership, resilience, self-awareness, empathy, service and compassion.
